Dear [Redacted]

Thank you for your "stellar" presentation before The National War College Alumni Association last Friday morning. You were carefully selected by a faculty committee from among your peers as the result of several outstanding executive traits observed and documented during the academic year. These included your demonstrated scholarship, the original, well framed and provocative quality of your strategic studies research paper and your impressive professional bearing.

The excellent briefing you gave on "Strategic and Doctrinal Implications of Deep Attack Concepts for Defense of Central Europe" was, as you must know from the strong positive audience response, extremely well received by a very knowledgeable, distinguished and demanding Alumni body. You have not only represented the Central Intelligence Agency and your class contemporaries superbly, but have also carried forth the highest tradition of our College.

Again, thank you Boyd. I speak for the faculty as well as myself when I tell you how proud we are to have graduates of your caliber.

Sincerely,

Lee E. Surut
Major General, USA
